DETAILED ACTION

1. This is in response to the Response to Office Action filed on 6/25/2003 (paper #9).

Claims 1-24 are presented for examination.

Information Disclosure Statement

2. The Information Disclosure Statement (paper # 4, filed 3/21/2002) has been completed considered and placed in record.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Budge et al., US pat. No.6,564,248.

As to claim 1, Budge discloses a system comprising:

a network and a first client (sub-system 2 of fig.1) having a first email messaging program (50 fig.1) installed thereon on which a composing user composes a message and records media, the first email messaging program sending the message to a receiving user over the network (see abstract, figs.1, 2B, 2C, col.3 line 17 to col.4 line 49).

Art Unit: 2155

a second client (receiving sub-system 4 of fig.1) having a second email messaging program (using same software program in fig.2B for receiving sub-system 4 of fig.1) installed thereon on which the receiving user receives the message over the network, the second email messaging program playing back the media upon the user viewing the message (i.e., playing back the audio and video portions of the received video email, see figs.5, 6, col.3 line 17 to col.4 line 49, col.5 line 12 to col.6 line 54).

As to claim 2, Budge discloses a streaming media server, the first email messaging program uploading the media to the streaming media server upon the message being sent to the receiving user over the network, and the second email messaging program downloading the media from the streaming media server over the network upon the receiving user viewing the message (see fig.5, col.5 line 12 to col.6 line 54).

As to claims 3, 11, 14, Budge further discloses an email messaging program attaches the media as an attachment to the message upon the message being sent to the receiving user over the network, and the second email messaging program receives the media as the attachment to the message over the network (i.e., sending email with an attach executable video email player, see col.3 line 54 to col.4 line 49 and col.5 line 26 to col.6 line 54).

As to claims 4, Budge discloses at least one of: the Internet, an intranet, an extranet, a local-area network (LAN), a wide-area network (WAN), a wired network, a wireless network, and a telephony network (see col.3 lines 7-53).

Art Unit: 2155

As to claim 5, Budge discloses at least one of the first client and the second client comprises: a desktop computer, a laptop computer, a cellular phone, a wireless phone, a set-top box, and a personal digital assistant (PDA) device (see col.3 line 17 to col.4 line 49).

As to claims 6 and 7, Budge discloses text and at least one of: audio, video, streaming audio and streaming video (see col.5 line 26 to col.6 line 54).

As to claim 8, Budge discloses a system comprising:

a networking mechanism communicatively coupling the system to a network (Internet, col.4 lines 5-29).

an email messaging program (50 fig.1) having at least a composing capability for a user (sending sub-system 2 of fig.1) to compose a message and record media associated with the message to send to another user over the network via the networking mechanism (see abstract, figs.1, 2B, 2C, col.3 line 17 to col.4 line 49 and col.5 lines 26-67).

As to claim 9, Budge discloses an operating system on which the email messaging program runs (see col.4 line 31 to col.5 line 58 and col.6 lines 1-54).

As to claim 10, Budge discloses capability uploads the media to a streaming media server communicatively coupled to the network over the network via the networking mechanism upon the message being sent to the other user over the network via the networking mechanism (see figs.4, 5, col.5 line 12 to col.6 line 54).

As to claims 12 and 13, Budge discloses a playback capability for the user to view messages received from other users over the network via the networking mechanism and play back received media associated with the messages received and downloading the media associated with one of the messages received from the streaming media server over the network via the networking mechanism upon the user viewing the one of the messages received (i.e., playing back the audio and video portions of the received video email, see figs.4, 5, col.3 line 17 to col.4 line 49).

As to claim 15, Budge discloses at least one of: an analog modem, an Integrated Services Digital Network (ISDN) adapter, a network adapter card, a network adapter chipset, a cable modem, a Digital Subscriber Loop (DSL) modem, a digital modem, and a wireless modem (see col.3 line 6 to col.4 line 49).

Claims 16 and 17 are rejected for the same reasons set forth in claims 6 and 7 respectively.

As to claim 18, Budge discloses a method comprising:

saving a message entered by a user by an email messaging program (see abstract, figs.1, 2B, 2C, col.3 line 17 to col.4 line 49).

recording media associated with the message by the email messaging program, uploading the media to a streaming media server over a network by the email messaging program (50 fig.1) and sending the message over the network by the email messaging program (see col.5 line 12 to col.6 line 54).

As to claim 19, Budge discloses receiving a second message over the network by the email messaging program in response to a user requesting the email messaging program to display the second message, displaying the second message by the email messaging program, downloading second media associated with the message from the streaming media server over the network by the email messaging program and playing back the second media by the email messaging program (i.e., playing back the audio and video portions of the received video email, see figs.4, 5, col.3 line 17 to col.4 line 49).

Claim 20 is rejected for the same reasons set forth in claim 18. As to the added limitation, Budge discloses sending the media as an attachment to the message (i.e., sending email with an attach executable video email player, see col.3 line 54 to col.4 line 49 and col.5 line 26 to col.6 line 54).

As to claim 21, Budge discloses receiving a second message over the network by the email messaging program; in response to a user requesting the email messaging program to display the second message, displaying the second message by the email messaging program, downloading second media associated with the message from the streaming media server over the network by the email messaging program and playing back the second media by the email messaging program (i.e., playing back the audio and video portions of the received video email, see figs.5, 6, col.3 line 17 to col.4 line 49, col.5 line 12 to col.6 line 54).

As to claim 22, Budge discloses a computer-readable medium having instructions stored thereon for an email messaging program comprising:

means for composing a first message by a first user and for recording first media associated with the first message to send to a second user over a network (see abstract, figs.1, 2B, 2C, col.3 line 17 to col.4 line 49).

means for viewing a second message received from the second user over the network by the first user, and for playing back second media associated with the second message (i.e., playing back the audio and video portions of the received video email, see figs.5, 6, col.3 line 17 to col.4 line 49, col.5 line 12 to col.6 line 54).

As to claim 23, Budge discloses uploading the first media to a streaming media server communicatively coupled to the network over the network upon the first message being sent to the second user over the network, and the means for viewing and for playing back downloads the second media from the streaming media server over the network upon the first user viewing the second message (i.e., playing back the audio and video portions of the received video email, see figs.5, 6, col.3 line 17 to col.4 line 49, col.5 line 12 to col.6 line 54).

Claim 24 is rejected for the same reasons set forth in claim 20.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-24 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. Claims 1-24 are rejected.
